

Catchpits

A catchpit/silt trap is a chamber within a drainage system into which sediment (that could otherwise block a drain) is collected and periodically removed.

Widely, and successfully, used for railway, highway and land drainage but also suitable for oil containment systems.

Please contact the sales office for advice on the information needed to progress your enquiry.

