

Geotechnical

To solve many different environmental problems Geotechnical solutions have become increasingly popular for civil engineering projects in recent years.

Cirrus can supply a wide range of products, each to suit different end uses.

There are five basic functions that can be provided using geosynthetic materials: separation, reinforcement, filtration, drainage, and containment.

Please contact the sales office for advice on the information needed to progress your enquiry.

